

Land Taxation: a policy for the future?

A day of talks and discussion about the policy of land taxation and what it can contribute to tackling the Budget deficit and the crisis in the housing market.

Monday 28 June 2010, 10:30am-3:30pm

University of Lincoln
(EMMTEC Building)

THE TAXABLE ELEMENT.

FIRST LORD, "THE SEA FOR ME!"

CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER, "WELL, YOU CAN HAVE IT. GIVE ME THE LAND!"

Lessons from the past

Monday 28 June 2010, 10:30am-3:30pm

EMMTEC BUILDING, UNIVERSITY OF LINCOLN

---

The aim of this one day symposium is to examine what policy makers today can learn from previous attempts to implement land taxation.

Themes to be addressed include:

- ▶ the benefits and problems of taxing the land
- ▶ land taxation as a possible solution to the crisis in the housing market
- ▶ land taxation and Local Government finance
- ▶ current plans for land taxation
- ▶ land taxation and the real estate market

Featured Speakers:

- Professor Iain McLean (Nuffield College, Oxford)
- Professor Alan Evans (Henley Business School, University of Reading)
- Dave Wetzel (Labour Land Campaign)
- Dr Ian Packer (University of Lincoln)
- Dr Tony Taylor (Sheffield Hallam University)
- Dr Paul Mulvey (London School of Economics)

Registration and programme:
www.lincoln.ac.uk/conferences
Contact: ipacker@lincoln.ac.uk

UNIVERSITY OF LINCOLN